

All introductory courses for freshmen are announced to the whole class and selected in the following way

The basic selection criteria are that students must pass the CSEPT University English Proficiency Test, or have studied and passed the basic Japanese course, only if you are included in the selection list can you be included in the candidate list.

And join the department's sister school, Nottingham Trent University, department of product design, International Design Studio online English design reading club, strengthen tutoring and send candidates Select people's English and spoken expressions, and practice spoken English conversations in the industry, and in the semester before going abroad Reconfirm whether the students perform equally well on weekdays and consider whether to replace them with other candidates.

Finally, an online meeting was held to match-match with foreign internship unit manufacturers, showcase student portfolios and introduce companies, ensuring Identify the foreign institutions where each student would like to intern.